

AMSA EX2013/08

Marine Safety (Temporary service) Exemption 2013

I, Graham Peachey, Chief Executive Officer of the Australian Maritime Safety Authority (the National Marine Safety Regulator under section 9 of the Marine Safety (Domestic Commercial Vessel) National Law), make this instrument under subsection 143(1) of the Marine Safety (Domestic Commercial Vessel) National Law.

21 June 2013

Graham Peachey
Chief Executive Officer

1 Name of instrument

This instrument is Marine Safety (Temporary service) Exemption 2013.

2 Duration

This instrument:

- (a) commences on 1 July 2013; and
- (b) ceases to have effect at the end of 30 June 2018.

3 Application for temporary service permit

A person may apply to the National Regulator for a temporary service permit to perform duties for which the person is required to, but does not, have a certificate of competency for a voyage or a period of time.

Note For the form of application and how it will be processed, contact the National Regulator.

4 Exemption

- (1) The person is exempt from the requirement to have a certificate of competency to perform the duties if the National Regulator:
 - (a) is satisfied that the person is, for the voyage or the period, competent to perform the prescribed duties or functions in relation to the vessel; and
 - (b) issues, in writing, a temporary service permit for the person to perform the duties for the voyage or period of time without the certificate.

Note A fee may be charged — see s 9 of the Marine Safety (Domestic Commercial Vessel) National Law Act 2012.

-
- (2) The permit may be issued for up to 30 days.
 - (3) The National Regulator may make the permit subject to further conditions that take account of the local conditions of the waters in which the vessel is to operate.
-